IN MEMORY OF GARY GUS FALEN

He was a boy.
 When you've said this
 You've compassed all mankind
 For he was part of all the boy-men
 Who have lived - or have been made to live
 In man's imagination:

Was Huck when autumn-painted woods
 Of aching beauty called him forth
 From walls of clay;
 Was Tom, when art or dramatist could build
 A world of fantasy upon a stage;
 A Puck, at times, to flash a grin or sparkle eyes
 Across an aisle - - Boy-country road
 To Playfulness and gamin gaiety;
 Young Edison, afire with inventiveness;
 A David, too, who had his Jonathan,
 Who voiced his music as he lived
 In joyous self-abandon;
 Was Galahad, with blue eyes full of hopes,
 Ideals, and youthful dreams
 Who never had to bear
 The cross of disillusionment.

He was a boy.
 The four most little words define
 The infinite potentialities of man:
 He was a boy.

SPECIAL THANKS TO MRS. LAMB

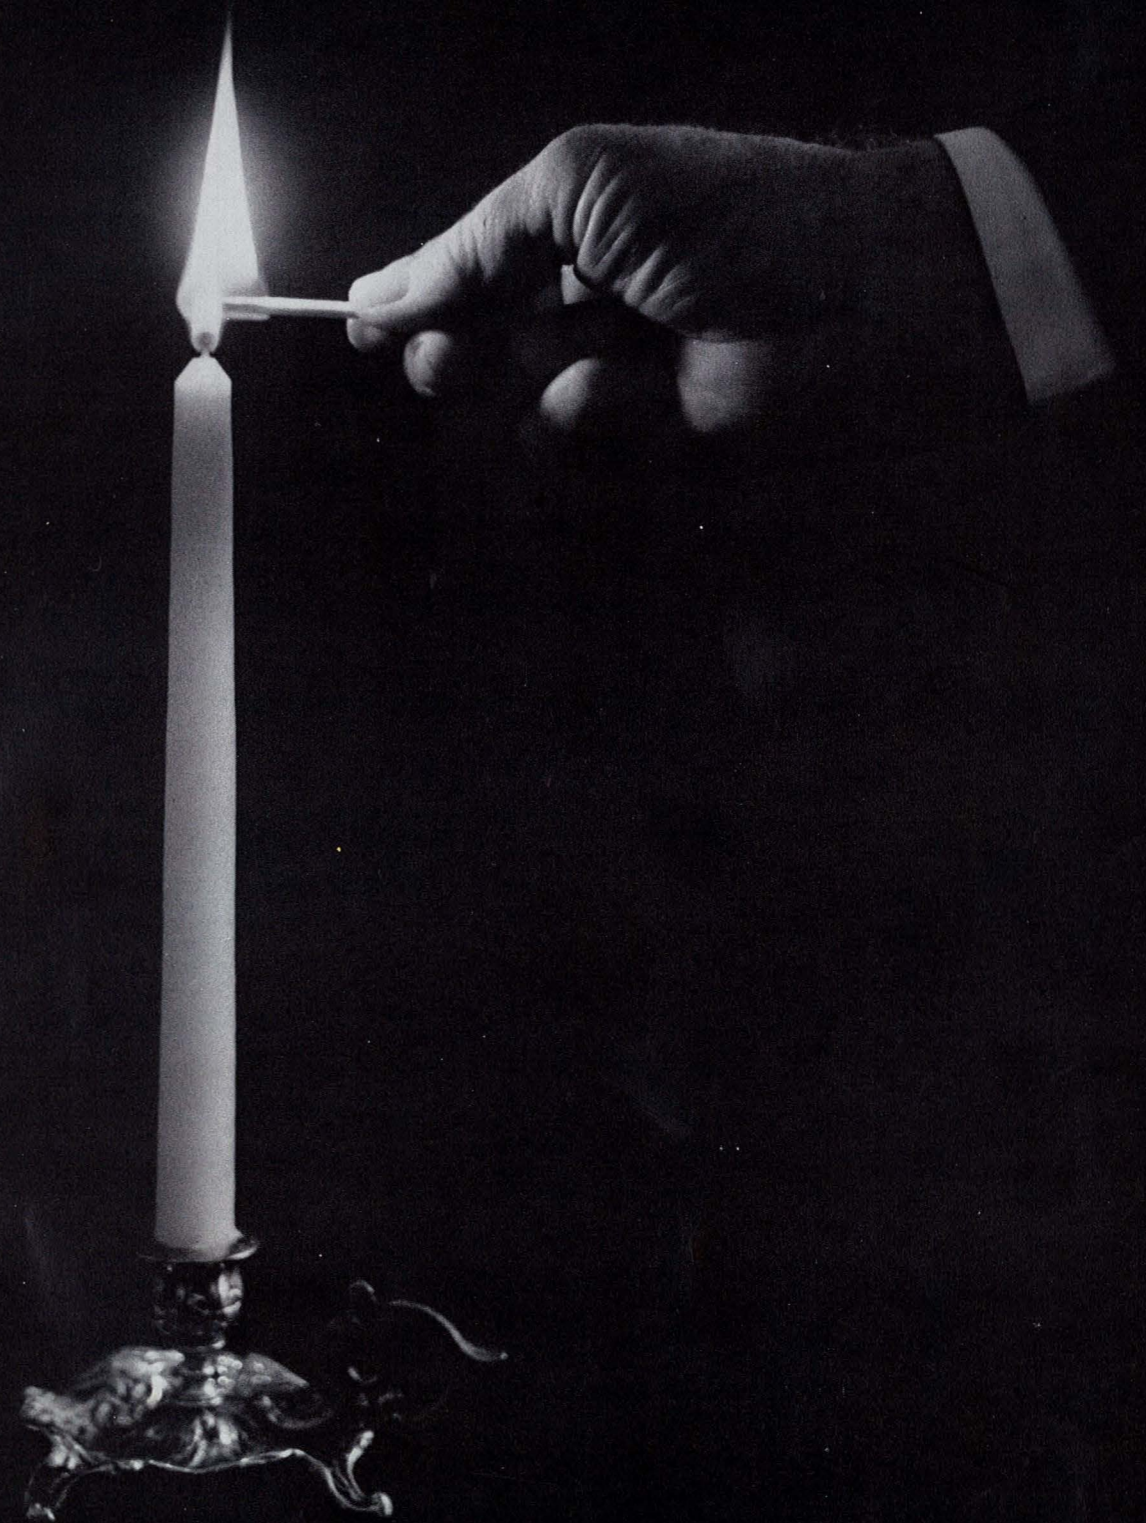

We wish to set aside this page in our Boltonian to give special thanks to Mrs. Lamb.

When Mr. Murphy left in our Senior year she graciously accepted the job of being advisor to an enthusiastic Senior Class.

Without her our yearbook would never have gone to press and without her we could never have gotten through the year.

And so to you, Mrs. Lamb, we, the Class of 1965, give our special thanks from the bottom of our hearts.

CLASS WILL

We, the Class of 1965, Bolton Central School, Bolton Landing, New York, County of Warren, hereby bequeath all of our worldly possessions to the following:

DICKIE bequeaths his sweat pants to Bobby Snyder so as to give the school another Cobber Pratt.

ROY wills his parking space in back of the school to Billy (Crash) Baldwin.

JEFF leaves the full length mirror in the Home Ec. Room to Brian C. so that he can admire himself at any time.

ART bequeaths his ability of speed to Brian C. so that he will be able to outrun the many girls that chase him down the streets of Lake George.

JUDY wills her ability to pierce ears to anyone with the nerve and a safety pin.

RONNETTE wills her ability to stay out late and still make it to school on time the next morning to Sue Cotherman.

DAWN, RONNETTE, JUDY and LINDA leave their attic workshop and the wastebasket full of empty pop bottles to those members of the Junior Class who become frustrated, overworked, and discouraged when it comes time to do the yearbook.

DAWN bequeaths her position as Editor-in-Chief of the Boltonian to the next unfortunate.

MICHAEL wills his ability to go through high school without doing any homework to Dianne L. and Christine R.

LINDA wills her ability to sneak down to the gym last period and get cokes to the next occupants of the attic workshop.

GENEVIEVE leaves her beauty culture customer, Mrs. K., to Linda Brown in the hopes that she will enjoy her as much as she has--especially on the days that she doesn't show up.

MARY ANN bequeaths to Brian C. some humility to start shrinking his head for his upcoming popularity.

TOM wills his ace bandage to Albert Huck.

PETER bequeaths his rubber boots to Mr. O'Neil so he won't catch a cold when walking in mud puddles.

DONALD leaves his ability to drive unlicensed motor vehicles to Bobby French.

MICHELE wills to Joan B. the new thermometer that was broken in Physics.

BOB STONEBRIDGE leaves his ability to get out a newspaper each month without any problems to next year's staff.

JOHN wills his old cigar butts to Coach Nichols to remember him by.

HAROLD bequeaths the right to say prayers in school to Jerry B., because that is the only way some of us made it through.

WALT wills his ability to leave school in the afternoons without being caught to Billy B.

KAREN leaves her novelty tights to crazy legs Chris Cameron.

ROBERT SPATNY wills his ability to eat the delicious, mouthwatering, nutritious school lunches to any of Bolton Central School's up-and-coming connoisseurs.

KENNY bequeaths to Joan B. a notebook full of paper.

We, as a class, leave you!
