. . . Expectations!

We all have expectations! It is the hope of the Class of '95 that together we all work to raise our expectations. Strive with us as we work to increase our academic and personal goals. Strive with us as we add one measure of giving to others as well. Compassion and understanding blended with responsibility, energy and enthusiasm, let this be our recipe for life!

Raise your expectations with us! Reach out with us as we reach out for our dreams. After all, you do get what you do expect!

School spirited upper and underclassmen join with school spirited administrators, faculty and staff to celebrate the beginning of a great school year! Little Ben has got the spirit too!

Spirit

Students express their school pride by attending games and participating in school functions.

School Spirit plays an important role during most students' years in high school. It is the pride in doing your best and being supportive of classmates as they try to do their best that creates the atmosphere of school spirit.

Spirit Week '95 culminated the night of Friday, September 30, with a bonfire and Pep Rally. Spirit awards, including two Gap certificates were presented to students demonstrating by costume and attitude the most school spirit.

We all enjoyed the music, gifts and presentation of athletes. Thanks go to teachers, staff, B.C.S. Booster Club and the Bolton Fire Department for a safe and memorable time!

HOMECOMING

This year's Homecoming was hosted by the Class of 1998. Members of the class, especially the class officers, worked very hard to create a festive and elegant atmosphere in the G.P. Room. The Homecoming Dance was November 4th, 1994. School spirit was evident and many friendships were enjoyed. We all look forward to continuing the Homecoming tradition!

Queen Christine and King Jesse

It was lots of fun and we'd like to have it again next year!

Maggie, Melissa and Sarah!

Dancing was the main event! Even Mr. Weick and Mr. McKinney joined in the fun.

Special thanks goes to the students who worked hard to make Homecoming so successful, especially to A. O'Rourke and M. Sammis.

LEARNING THROUGH EXPERIENCES

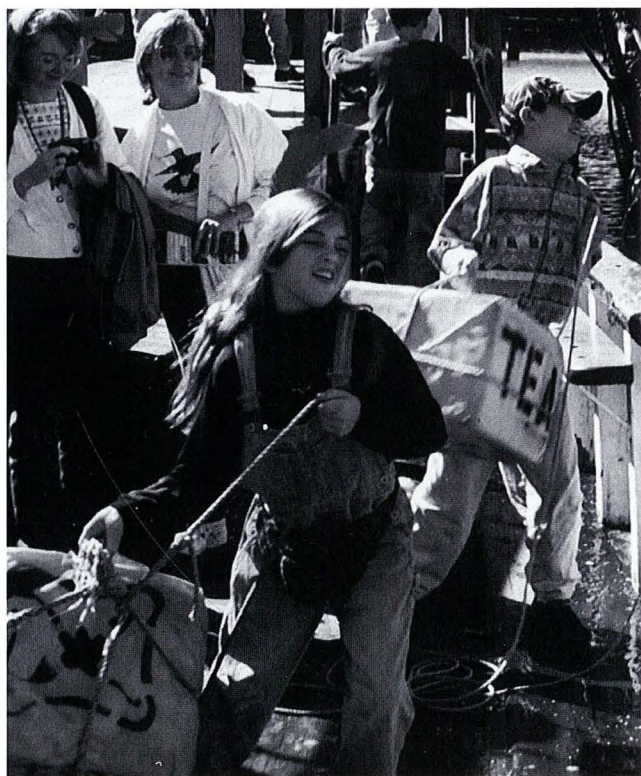

Bolton Central School Students have many opportunities during the school year for "hands on experience" learning in all of their subject areas, from the basics — such as conferencing in Math, English and Social Studies to on site experimentation in Science! The variety and quality of educational experiences offered is excellent. Some of the special trips this year included Boston, Montreal, N.Y.C. to see Les Misérables, N.Y.C. to see Miss Saigon, and Cooperstown. Music students performed in the Joy Parade, presented excellent concerts at Christmas time and again in the Spring. Art students participated in the Scholastic Art and Hyde Museum Fine Art Shows.

Bolton Central School students continue to experience improvements in technology opportunities in computer class, not only with on site equipment, but with a variety of trips to additional Computer Centers. Athletes have opportunities to compete in soccer, basketball, baseball and softball. And through The Outing Club, students have taken canoe trips, hikes and ski trips throughout the High Peaks Region.

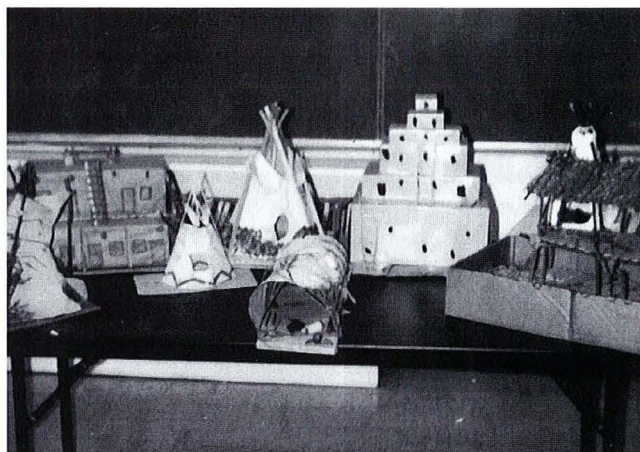

Many of these special trips and events are highlighted on the following pages. We, the Class of '95, hope you enjoy these photo selections as much as we have enjoyed arranging them!

Experiences

The General Purpose room was decorated in black, silver and green with highlights of silver stars and glitter. Prom goers arrived to find tables with candles glowing among green ferns and baby's breath. Light was reflected from the silver papered walls, as a mirrored ball rotated from the ceiling throwing flecks of light around the room. A beautiful fountain with a blue-colored lighting completed the decorations.

It was a spectacular evening, and was attended by students from Bolton, Minerva and Newcomb Central Schools. The music was supplied by the Harrisena Road Show.

To The Class of 1995:

It is always a pleasure to write a letter to the students of the graduating class, because it means you all have successfully met one of the most important milestones in your lives.

All of you have been prepared to go into an ever changing and challenging world and to successfully compete. There will be exciting opportunities open to you. Opportunities you have not even dreamed of yet. To meet these challenges and succeed you must continue to learn, remain open to new ideas, stay flexible and grasp the opportunities when they come your way.

Thank you for the privilege of knowing and working with each of you. I wish you all the success and opportunities possible. Go forth from BCS and continue to make me proud to have known you.

Sincere success,

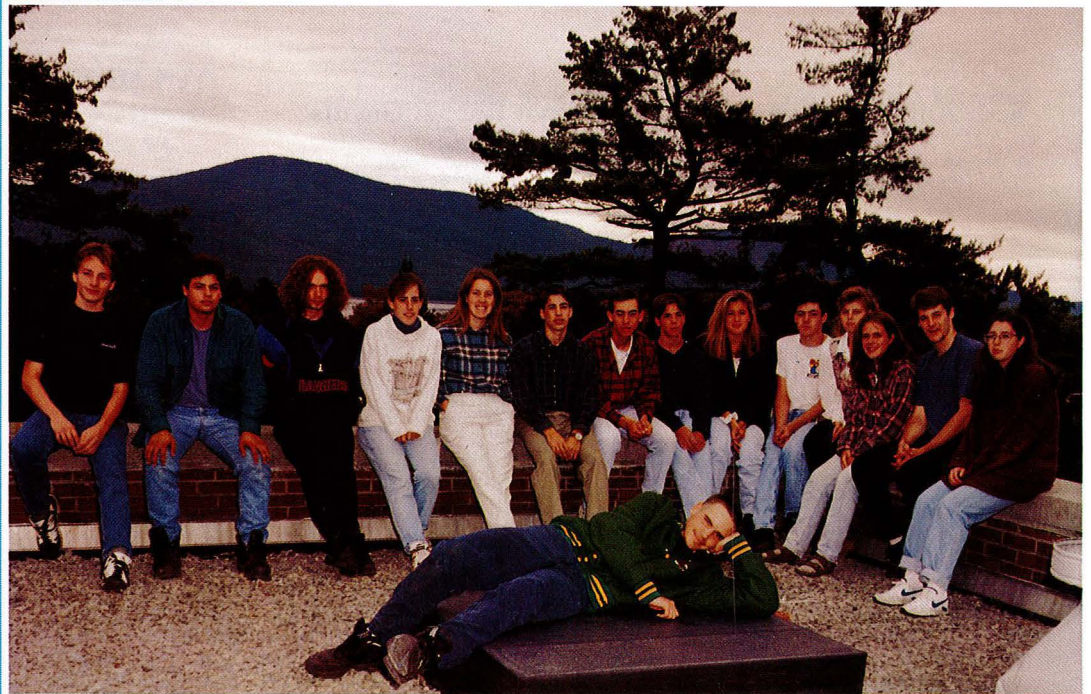

Franklin J. McKinney,
Principal

— Seniors

Though often the main avenue for expressing individualism is through outward appearances, many students agree that they are unique in how they think and feel, rather than how they dress.

Seniors would like to thank all the many teachers who have valued their individual differences and helped guide them as they have tried to follow their own unique path.

Although our individuality has always been encouraged, there is in the “back of every teacher’s mind” the DREAM STUDENT!

... and very proud of it! We're on the move towards a great future! Being an Underclassman is hectic at times. There is always a test to study for or a paper to type and for those of us who choose to participate in a sport, the days can be very long.

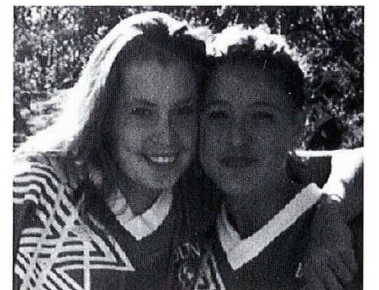

For the younger Underclassmen, the Middle School can be scary in the early days. Keeping track of books, papers, assignments and getting them in on time requires responsibility and organization. Ninth grade and the first Regents exams are a time when students begin to think about career choices and being prepared for those choices.

Dear Class of 1995,

Would you believe it? It is the spring of 1995, graduation is just around the corner and your years at Bolton Central are almost over. As you bask in the well deserved good feeling of having almost completed a very significant achievement, I want to extend my warmest congratulations to each and every one of you.

The awarding of a high school diploma is no small thing. It is proof that you have satisfied all the requirements established by the Board of Education and the New York State Board of Regents; that you have mastered the rudiments of math and social studies and science; that you have learned to sing or play a musical instrument; that you have learned to saw wood up and put it back together in interesting shapes; that you have learned some basics of both the French language and cooking; that you have learned to express yourself through a variety of art media.

A high school diploma also means that you have made friends that may last forever and that you have had a rich tapestry of experiences and memories that will last a lifetime.

A high school diploma means that you have had successes and failures; that you have had good times and bad. It means that you have taken all these things in stride as part of the learning process and have grown from timid kindergarten students to the mature young adults you are today.

The commencement ceremony in June will mean that you are finished with the comfortable, secure world of Bolton Central and are ready to set out on the next great adventure of your lives. With great expectations, the entire Bolton faculty and staff hope that you will make the best of all the opportunities that open up to you.

I personally and sincerely wish the very best for every member of the Class of 1995 in the challenging years ahead.

With best wishes for success,

Showing off talent

select photos from the Music department

Whether it's a concert, musical or a parade, Bolton students display talent. Dedication is the motivation for keeping up with the long hours of practice "to get it right." Mr. Miller and Mr. Walkanowski are always there behind the scenes. They help calm our nerves, keep us focused and smooth out our timing!

For many students, music performance provides an excellent opportunity to stretch their ideas of what they can do! Shy students often become extroverts on stage, while those students who seem always to have something to say, suddenly have no words!

FROM THE ATHLETIC YEAR

Varsity Basketball

Alison Huck scores 1000 points! Senior Alison Huck surpassed 1000 points in her basketball career during the '95 season. This is the first time in BCS history that anyone has reached the milestone of 1000 career points in basketball.

Her basketball coach Ms. MacLean stated that Alison is a good ball handler, a great shot and a team leader. She has been chosen from the best of Northeastern New York, has played for the AAU League and attended the Hackensack Basketball Camp in Warrensburg.

Alison is a good academic student. She is among the top achievers in the Senior Class, an Honor Society member, a representative of the Student Council and serves as Class President.

On the evening of her great achievement, Alison was presented with a game ball and certificate. Her teammates gave her balloons and a ceramic memento with each of their signatures.

Alison stated in appreciation to all present that she couldn't have accomplished this milestone without the help of all her teammates.

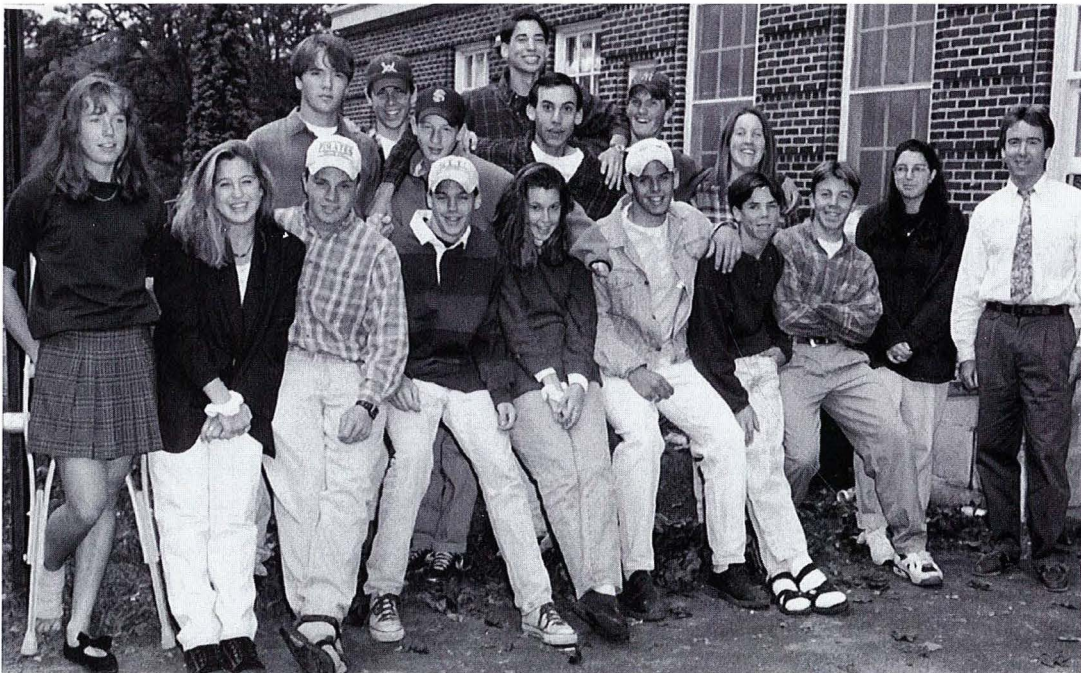

S

TUDENT LEADERSHIP

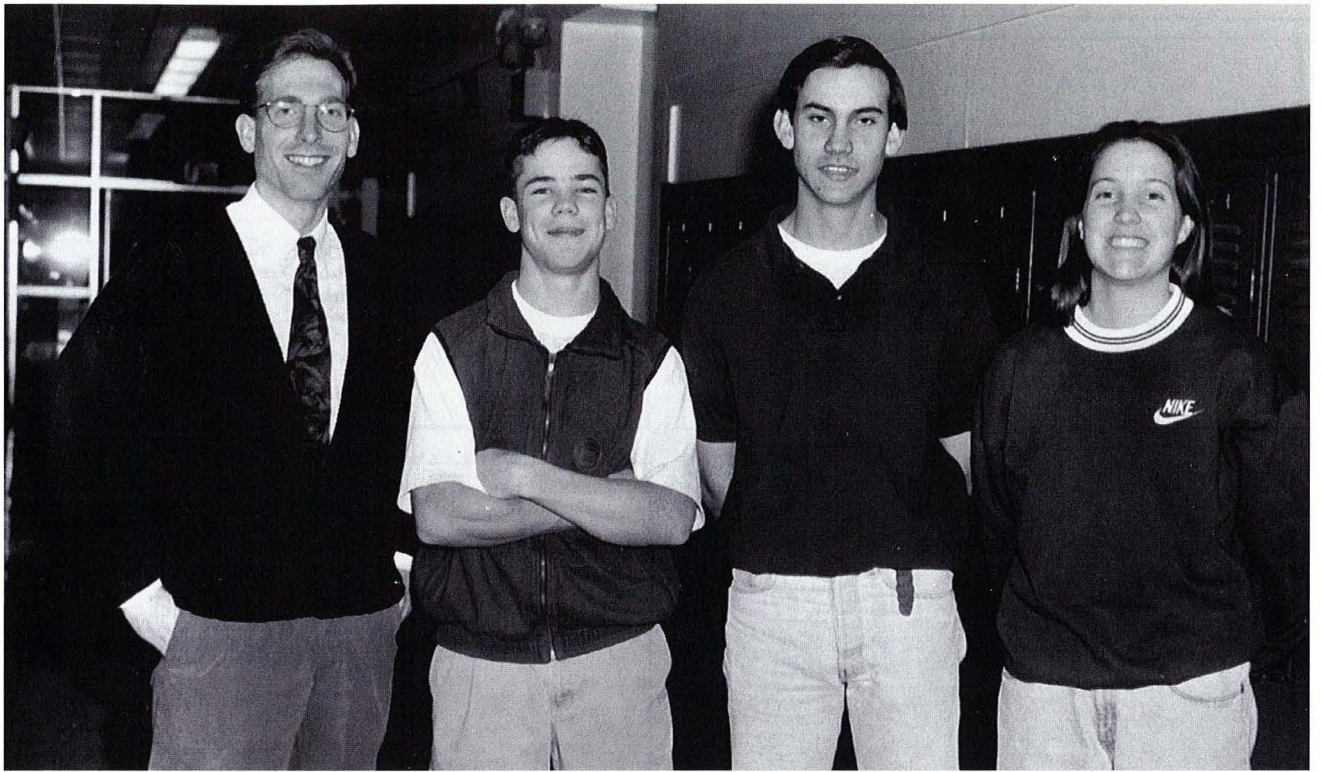

STUDENT LEADERSHIP can be seen not only in school spirited attitudes and activities, but in school organizations and clubs! In SADD, students commit to the position that drinking and then driving are not OK. Although the high school years are a time of new freedoms and experimentation, SADD students believe that inherent in these new freedoms is the responsibility to choose wisely.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY members have achieved a measure of academic success according to the highest standards of excellence in all areas of course work. In addition, these students value leadership, scholarship, character and service not only in the educational setting, but in their personal lives as well. Members strive beyond the ordinary, setting high expectations and standards for themselves; these attitudes are displayed by the respect they demonstrate for themselves and for others.

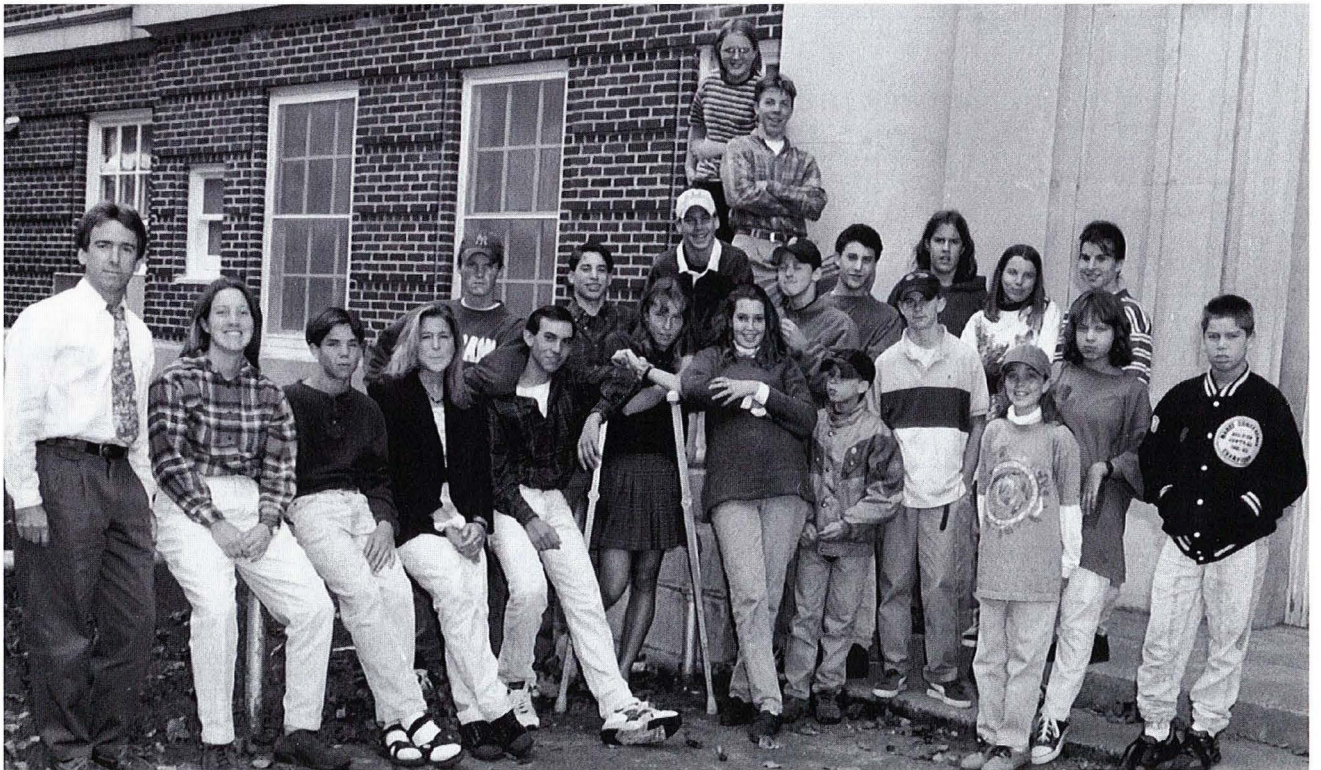

STUDENT COUNCIL members work as partners with the principal and faculty in planning and managing school projects and affairs. Student Council provides an arena for students to practice and test themselves in areas of civic education. High standards of personal conduct by example promote the best interests of our school and community through active and responsible leadership.

ALMA MATER

High above Lake George's waters
Beautiful and pure,
Proudly stands our Alma Mater
Stately and secure.

Always loyal, always faithful
We will be to you;
And to thee, our Alma Mater,
Bolton Central School.
