As time winds down until graduation day, we reflect on our years at BCS. Many of us have come and gone, but have not been forgotten. The small class that we are has grown together as a family and we have been there for each other through thick and thin. As all the classes do, we've had our differences, but they were nothing that couldn't be resolved. The Class of 1997 is unique indeed, but it's not because of the number of people in it. We are unique due to the number of likes and dislikes we all share. We are an active class and have done a lot of things with, and for, the school. We have changed our outlook, as well as others of BCS, and our ways of life in the real world! We were the first to cruise the High Seas of the Caribbean for our Senior Class trip and we are one of the richest classes in BCS history. Whether it be from Youth and Government to Student Council, we have changed ourselves and our school and as we get closer to graduation, it is time to decide how we will "Change the World."

WE'LL NEVER FORGET 4 DISTINGUISHED MEMBERS OF OUR BCS FAMILY

Mr. Shaw

For 25 years Marshall W. Shaw supervised the successful and safe transportation of Bolton students. For many of us, the school day began and ended with a school bus. The strength of his dedication and efforts touched in some way our whole community and we are better by his example.

Mr. Greene

Your help and guidance went above and beyond the classroom. Without you, no one in our class would have a valid driver's license! Your dedication and hard work will not be forgotten. Congratulations on your retirement and we hope you catch the one that got away from everyone else!

Mr. Snyder

Since 1957, you have been the first smiling face kids see in the morning. Your warm smile and kind personality will continue in our minds. Congratulations on your retirement and good luck in the future.

Mr. McKinney

For 8 years you have been looked upon as a teacher and a principal. Now you have an opportunity to start all over. Our hearts and luck go with you. You will always be a special part of BCS.

... YOU HAVE MADE OUR YEARS A LITTLE BIT OF HEAVEN!
SPECIAL THANKS FROM THE CLASS OF '97!

---

Dr. Grimm — You're not only our Superintendent and our advisor, you have become our friend as well. We've worked together since you came here and have gotten several things accomplished for our school and ourselves. We appreciate all of your time and effort. Thank you!

---

Mr. Roberts — All your hard work and time that you have put into the class of 1997 has paid off. We are now graduating and leaving BCS behind. We thank you very much for supporting us and being there for us when we needed you.

---

Mrs. DeHoney — When all else failed, you were there to help us. We have done several things together and enjoyed many fun times. Thank you for all the times you have come to our rescue, we will never forget them!

JUNIOR PROM CLASS OF '97

SATURDAY MAY 4, 1996

8 - 12 MIDNIGHT, CORONATION 11 PM

"EVENING OF ELEGANCE"

AT

BOLTON CENTRAL SCHOOL

Couples $25.
Singles $15.

Coronation $6.

An "Evening of Elegance" filled the GP room on May 4th, 1996, as the Class of 1997 came together with grace and beauty. Sparkling gold and black shimmered throughout the room as "Thank You" by Led Zeppelin led the Royal dance for King Paul Cummings and Queen Heather French. The Court consisted of Jessica French, Kiley French, Tom Muscatello and Brian Perry. Crown bearers were Kristen Rafferty and Ben Gaddy, accompanied by trumpeter John Lamb. As the night concluded and the light was turned away from the chandelier, the class agreed that it was truly an Evening of Elegance.

Preparations for Prom 1996

An "Evening of Elegance" was demanding. After all, a prom needs preparation and who better to prepare for it the night before than Kyle, Tom, and Joe.

Senior Prophecy

Around the holidays, many people's thoughts meander back to their hometown and those with whom they once commemorated a variety of childhood events. It was this type of sappy, Hallmark memory that prompted Tommy Musc. to summon his fellow BCS veterans to his southern plantation. He planned to host a weekend of merry making.

His whole "Greek Revival Georgian" styled home would be decorated and transformed into an Adirondack cabin. Tommy planned to bash down trees, collect rocks, arrange grass clippings, and hang dead animal heads. Over the front door, Tommy instructed his butler to shower the arriving guests with powdered sugar, suggesting snow.

For days, Tommy rehearsed a rather long winded sermon that he would direct at his old school chums. It concerned the architectural trappings, party itinerary and his newly acquired hockey team. Finally, all he had to do was wait for the blessed day.

Immediately, he got a response from Adam. Apparently, Adam was a "hospitable amenities consultant" and offered to assist Tommy in his holiday madness. He promised Tom that his aid would ensure a festive, warm, interpersonal gathering. After all, Adam's CD Rom, Saying the Right Thing at the Right Time, had been lauded in "Star Magazine." Tom eagerly anticipated his arrival.

Joe drove Adam in the van. Joe's voice became hoarse due to all the arguing that he and Adam had enjoyed on the trip down. Joe had been working on a new best seller — I'm Right, You're Not. As part of his research, he engaged Adam in squabbles concerning whose tires smoked the most and other inane subjects. Both had their happy faces on and approached the compound only to find the main gate locked.

Just then a high performance vehicle right out of NASCAR pulled up along side the guys. It was Kyle. He had to identify himself as he was sporting a perm. Kyle had officially gotten into the hairstyling business. After the three exchanged initial insults, Joe told Kyle of their dilemma. All of a sudden, Kyle's extra large, over processed hair, fluttered about crazily. The whap, whap, whap of two helicopters could be heard and felt. Out from the 'copters dashed two Secret Service people who quickly dismantled the security system. Only then was Paul allowed out of the chopper. He carried a soap box under his arm. Paul was a policy writer and had lately been dealing with the situation in Rwanda. All made their way to Tom's front door.

The butler showered them with sugar and Adam said, "All right, you moron . . ." Secret Service quickly put the butler in custody and he was never heard from again. Tom greeted them and hurried them to the back veranda. Dan could not make it, he then told them. Dan was the substitute captain of the "Love Boat" and unfortunately had been called in to work. Just recently, he had left a job at Sea World after being bit by a co-worker. Dan, instead, arranged for his cousin, Brian, to bring a letter to the group.

Brian forgot the letter. Brian had been under immense stress as he just mysteriously completed a third skin graft on his neck and was a house husband. Some thought his surgeries had to do with the turkeys that occasionally chased him, others knew better. However, he could still get the door for the three French girls (no, they're not related). The ladies had arrived!

Each had a story to tell about their long trip south, but no one listened. Heather was getting her name in print playing for the WNBA. Coincidentally, on the road, she hooked up with her old classmate, Bijou, and they did the party circuit "homegirl style." In her spare time she was tracing her (and everyone else's) ancestry. Jessica eloped to Canada with Monsieur Perry and was running a French patisserie. She was amazing. Jessica could be a good wife to Brian, raise their seven and a half kids (she was pregnant), speak fluent French, and maintain her recyclables. Kiley was writing song lyrics for her band and tooling around the country with various country western stars. She had really nice boots and hair.

Everyone was exhausted by the time Friday evening commenced. Tom had decided to forego his planned charade when in strolled Thomas (Squiggy). Apparently, Paul's Secret Service agents had delayed him at the gate and strip searched Squiggy knowing that he was in from L.A. All that turned up were his big headphones, his boom box, three hats, and a bag of chips in his big, old, baggy jeans. After reacquainting himself with the Bolton Bunch, he proclaimed that they should all just hang out and watch a video. Some of the party goers gave him a funny look. So much for Tommy's merrymaking.

THE STREAK CONTINUES . . .

1996 UNDEFEATED MVAC CHAMPIONS

Our BCS varsity baseball team garnered the 1996 Mountain and Valley Conference Championship while recording an undefeated 12-0 league record. The Spring weather played havoc with this season's schedule and limited play to only conference and sectional games. The only blemish on the record of the Eagles was a hard fought 3-2 loss to defending state finalist Lake Placid in the sectionals. That makes Lake Placid the only team to successfully defeat the Eagles over the past two seasons. During that period Bolton has compiled a 29-2 record. This marks the 8th consecutive league title for the Eagles and extends Coach Donahue's league winning streak to over 65 games — a streak that began back during the beginning of the 1989 season. The 1996 version of the proponents of "Bolton Ball" was highlighted by the outstanding pitching of brother tandem Brian and Greg Perry and Lance "Goose" Truax, power hitting feats by Luke Schweickert and Jesse Foy, and solid all around defensive play by the entire roster. The Eagle machine outscored their opponents by a 161-23 run margin.

Selected for 1st team MVAC all-stars were conference MVP Brian Perry, Luke Schweickert, Jesse Foy and Greg Perry. Chosen for 2nd team honors was Lance Truax while Adam Railing and Jeremy Bennett earned honorable mention. Coach Jim Donahue was again named by league officials as Coach of the Year for the MVAC. Instrumental in this achievement were the contributions of Chris Ball, Dan Perry, Jason Kish, Tony Huck and Matt Kostyal, and late addition Sam Caldwell.

MVAC Coach of the Year Jim Donahue and MVP Brian Perry take time away from their hectic baseball schedule to pose for the paparazzi to commemorate their individual accomplishments that culminated their championship season.

Brian is a bit perturbed at Chris for drinking all the Gatorade. Who does all the HARD work around here? Brian thinks it's the pitcher.

Lance loosens up on the sidelines as he stares down the opposing pitcher just waiting to uncork his formidable swing.

Adam is a bit perplexed as he nears first base, not sure if he should settle for the single or stretch it. He knows you don't get your name in the paper for singles!

Always open to suggestions, Coach Donahue appears a bit inquisitive about Buddy's latest strategy.

Brian approaches first base after a hit and suddenly remembers Coach Donahue saying pitchers don't get paid to hit. So, he slows down and conserves his energy for his fastball.

Tommy,

You are a loving, caring and wonderful young man. Allow life experiences to serve as an education and enrichment rather than frustration. There is always "a way" — you only need to find it.

We love you!

For Boze

We will never forget the face of a very special little boy, who was so excited to be turning seven years old, that he announced on his birthday . . . "Here comes my big life." Today we look at a young man of eighteen and see that same face, still full of excitement and still reaching out for his "big life."

Every day you make us proud, bring us joy and stirring the pot. Our wish for you is that you never let go of your passion. Go out and grab your "big life" — but be sure to do it with respect, hard work and kindness. Always remember you are loved.

"Home remains as you go out to serve and conquer the world. And we always follow you wherever you go in spirit, in prayer, and in love. You are never alone."

— Marian Wright Edelman

MY SON

You have always been a special person and we are proud of the young man you have become. Though we may be apart, you will always be in our hearts. Always remember the special times, work hard and follow your dreams.

Love Always,
Mom and Anthony

Congratulations,
Jessica!

Whether you are exploring the floor of Lake George or working on the passing of a bill on the floor of the State Assembly —

Whether you are climbing the High Peaks in the frigid winter, or the Italian Alps across the ocean, continue to use your strength and dedication to “Climb High” to reach your goals in life.

We are very proud of you, Daniel

Love,

Dad, Mom, David and Christopher

Heather,

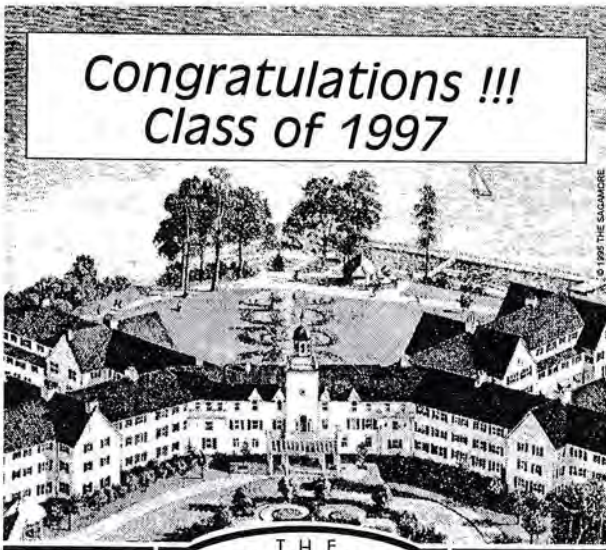

You've grown up from a baby
 So small, so cute, so sweet
 to a gorgeous, smart young lady
 and quite an athlete

We pushed you in your stroller
 Now we watch you in your car
 Who'd have thought when you joined little league
 You'd get this good or go so far

Yes, you've always been real special
 As you've grown day by day
 So good luck, God bless, we love you
 As you continue on your way.

Love,
 Mom and Dad

CONGRATULATIONS CLASS OF '97
Don Teck Hairstylist
International Award Winner
 THE ULTIMATE IN HAIR CARE

The graduating class of 1997 would like to thank the faculty and staff at BCS. Without the support, caring and kindness you provided, we would not be in the position to compose this edition of the BOLTONIAN. The teachers assisted our class in growing and maturing into intelligent young adults. The lunch staff has provided us with interesting meals and humor while waiting to partake in the culinary delights they served. The secretarial and custodial staffs have also given us much assistance, often in a jocular mode, as we grew.

We truly appreciate all you have done. The Class of '97 will continue to remember the good times we shared, and carry the fond memories in our hearts as we go out and "Change the World."
