Alma Mater

High above Lake George's Waters
Beautiful and Pure
Proudly stands our Alma Mater
Stately and Secure.
Always loyal, always faithful,
We will be to you,
And to thee our Alma Mater
Bolton Central School.
Mid the pines upon the mountains
Steadfast and so true
Proudly stands our Alma Mater
Beautiful to view.
Always loyal, always faithful
We will be to you,
And to thee our Alma Mater
Bolton Central School.

Strike A Pose

Dedication

The Seniors of the Class of 2001
dedicate the 2001 BCS Yearbook
to our supportive and
committed Class Advisor,
Mr. Donohue.

We would also like to sincerely thank all of the people who have inspired us, believed in us, and made an impact on our lives. You have helped shape us into the people we are today. You know who you are,
and this book is dedicated to you also.
We will always remember
you.

Senior Prophecy

After the 2030 census, the whereabouts of Mr. Thomas S. Donohue were unbeknownst to the common man. The United States President and world peace collaborator, Alyssa decided to send a special task force across the country to find the BCS Class of 2001 Advisor. Jessica sent her best wishes from the Supreme Court, where she was the Chief Justice. Jessica did not feel it was necessary to help in the search, as someone had to watch over the LGK. At their second stop in New Jersey, they saw Justin who had developed a chain of Renaissance Villages. (Apparently every working man needs a good sword fight every once in a while to relieve stress.) Although Justin had recently been across country promoting his villages, he had seen no sign of the missing class advisor. They found that in New York City, Lacey was married to a professional fire fighter, and worked as a neurosurgeon. Elaine had created her own women's magazine, Laine, and had hired Kristen to work for her. Kristen did not enjoy the work however, saying, "I don't get summers off, the pay is terrible, and I actually have to show up!" Lacey, Kristen, and Elaine were not able to help the search either. They came across John Lylyk where he volunteered his services as an army official to head the team. In New Hampshire, Tammy's second grade class was abruptly interrupted by the special task force. She was also unable to help them find Mr. Donohue. David was spotted in various parts of the country handing out pamphlets on Republicanism, but still there was no sign of Mr. Donohue. Mississippi was the home of Derek, a retired army officer. Tyson was found living nearby, and practiced his golfing game daily. After winning the U.S. Open five years in a row, he fully intended to keep his title of "The Best Golfer in America." Neither of the classmates had any information for the search team. They saw Greg at various airports throughout the country. He lived out of his suitcase, and was incredibly happy with his life, although he claimed that he would never find another job as good as bussing at the Algonquin. He did seem to thoroughly enjoy his role as Mr. Cindy Crawford as he followed his wife everywhere. The couple was happy to donate funds to help find him. Through some contacts they learned that Tommy had struck it rich designing skate parks in Florida. He also owned a hotel for young skateboarders with his specialty rate being $.86 a night, for those who enjoyed cardboard boxes. Beth also lived in Florida, lifeguarding at the South Beach. She loved the job because she finally got the respect that she craved for getting paid to sit in a chair all day. They were both too busy to help the search. Sarah Matson lived out of the back of her tanker. As a truck driving artist, Sarah had all the freedom that she needed and no deadlines! At a stop in New Orleans, they learned that John Lamb had opened a restaurant, started his own cable access cooking show, and eventually surpassed Emeril in ratings. Carl had also made his fortune in cable television. He starred in late night infomercials that promoted his innovative karate exercise videos. Heather had a Fred Durst shrine in Texas, and also owned 95% of the shares in the WPFL (Women's Professional Football League). As the sole creator of this league, Heather felt that it was her duty to teach girls everywhere to hit back. Hard. Mr. Donohue wasn't found in any of these places. Jon Brown lived in Arizona and entertained himself by stunt car driving, and political commentating. Even across the country, Jon drove around late at night, blasting his stereo. At a resort in Colorado, they found Sarah Smack working as a ski instructor. In her free time, Sarah learned every language known to man. At Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, they found Chris, who was playing his saxophone for sold out crowds. He still wore his baseball hat all the time, and was giving serious thought to having it sewn to his scalp. These three were clueless on the location of Mr. Donohue. Oregon was where Laura had established her daycare center. Each day she tested her limits of sanity, making sure that the young children in her care could read and wipe properly. John Wilcox lived in Seattle building skyscrapers and drinking Starbuck's specialty blends. Joe was happy to donate money to the cause because he had made his own version of Jurassic Park and was very successful. It was in L.A. that they found the last two classmates. Gillian had established herself as a superpower in the Fortune 500 world. CEO of not one, but five of these companies, Gillian was incredibly busy. Jacquie was hired to design the web pages for Gillian's companies, and had amassed a small fortune doing so. She still preferred her '91 Corsica to any other car on the market, and drove "Roberta" to work every day. Finally, with the use of President Alyssa's influence and Gillian's technology company, Mr. Donohue was located in a small alpine village in Switzerland. He was found skiing and still recovering from Monday class meetings.

DEDICATED TO ALYSSA JORDAN

The way she shoots that basketball is like a shooting star, streaking through the midnight sky.

The twinkle in her eye reminds us of the North Star guiding us near to her warm, magic hug.

When we put our heads on our pillows at night, we can see the stars. When we put our heads on our pillows at night, we can see Alyssa in our hearts, minds and dreams.

The stars are big and bright, but Alyssa's future is bigger and brighter. She can choose to be a big star in our small galaxy Milky Way...or set her sights far beyond.

In the future, whether we are near or far, we will see her in the stars.

The way she shoots that basketball is like a shooting star, streaking through the midnight sky.

Congratulations to Gregory Bonath and the Class of 2001
Mom and Joe

Dear Gregory,
I can't believe it's time that you are graduating. It seems like just yesterday you were so small. It never failed, you always were doing something crazy and making others laugh. Most of all you have kept me laughing. That humor and your imagination will take you many places. You truly are my shining star.
I'm so proud of you and I love you very much. Always stand tall. Keep your head up high. Reach for the stars.
Congratulations.

Love,
Mom

Sarah,
You have always been our princess! We are very proud of the happy, caring and outgoing person you have become. We wish for you a bright, promising future.

Wherever you are, it's your friends that make your world

Being crazy together can pull you through tough times. Enjoy the laughs. Keep each other laughing and keep each other sane.

FRIENDS

LACEY KRISTEN

Friend = one who know all about you and likes you just the same

It's not where you go or what you do, it's who you take along with you. If you have one true friend, it's more than your fair share.

One of the happiest days of our lives,
the day you were born.
You were so small and indescribably wonderful.
Now we look at you and what a beautiful person you've become!
We love you and know you have what it takes to be one of the best at whatever you choose to be.

It has been a pleasure to watch you grow and to see you enjoy times with your brother.

From the first day of school to Kindergarten graduation you enjoyed every minute. You will be an even more beautiful graduate this June.

Lacey, we could never explain to the world how proud we are to have you as a daughter but we hope you know. We wish you health, happiness and great success. B.C.S. is just a fun stop on your way to outstanding accomplishments. We love you. Dad and Mom

Even when you were down your smile came through. To meet Mia Hamm you went out of your way.

Congratulations on your graduation! The time we've spent together has meant a lot to me.
You've grown into a lovely young woman, full of ambition and desire and I wish the best for you.
Know that I will always be here if you need a friend. Thank you for allowing me to be a part of your life. Follow your dreams.

Love,
Susan

Jacquie,

You are such a young lady, so strong and determined. You will succeed at whatever you attempt. We will always be there for you as you have always been there for us. Set your goals high, you will achieve!

We love you!

Mom, Dad, Scott, & Jonathan

Dear Christopher,

As your parents we have watched you grow from a little boy curious about the world around you and all the things it had to offer a child into a fine young man any parent would be proud to call their son. Be curious, but still be strong and true to your beliefs and you will achieve all the goals and dreams you may set for yourself. We love you and are very proud of you.

Mom and Dad

David,
The best in all that you do.
Stay strong and make a difference.
We're proud of you.
